Important Information from TD

This is a TD service facilitated by VISA. Your money transfer is a transaction to which regular TD account transaction charges may apply. TD may reject, freeze or hold a money transfer due to regulations, policies and/or laws. The estimate you receive may not be valid if you have to restart your transaction or if your transaction is not completed due to any other reason. Certain currencies are a zero decimal currency and payments to recipients in their available currency must be entered in whole currency amounts without decimal points to avoid rejection. Amounts converted into a zero decimal currency selected by you will also be rounded up if the last digit is 5 or greater or down if the last digit is less than 5. When we convert the transaction, in some cases it will appear on your transaction receipt displaying only the first five decimal places after the decimal point even though we used a more detailed calculation when you completed the money transfer. Funds may be made available to the recipient account within 30 minutes by recipient financial institutions. TD will make reasonable efforts to make sure that the funds are processed within the estimated delivery time. Actual time for funds availability depends on various factors, including regulations in the destination country, currency, amount of transfer, fraud screening in destination country and/or any other reason beyond the control of TD.
